TOO SMALL IN DENOMINATION. —John Gray, the clerk of the board of supervisors, said yesterday that he thought the Mesa school trustees had made a mistake when they called for the issuance of $100 school bonds instead of $1,000. The result of the mistake was only an inconvenience, but it fell partly on the shoulders of the clerk. Attached to each bond are twenty-four coupons. The bond as well as the coupons require the signature of the clerk. Mr. Gray has estimated that he wrote his signature 1,610 times before all the bonds and coupons were properly signed.

particular dog. It was a case of promiscuous poisoning, and the wrong dog was just as apt to be the victim as the canine the poison was intended for. Emanuel B. Scott, the former dog impounder, was the funeral director, and was the sole member of the funeral cortege which followed the St. Bernard's remains to its last resting place at the river.

DISTRICT COURT. —The case of Wilhelm Zockler vs. the Sovereign Camp Woodmen of the World was begun in district court yesterday. This is an action to recover the insurance on the life of the plaintiff's husband, which is withheld by the defendant on the ground that the death of Zockler was suicide. He died about eighteen months ago. He was found in his bedroom, killed by a discharge from a revolver which lay at his feet. A coroner's jury found that the shot was inflicted by Zockler, but the second jury found that he came to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown. Charles Molitor, an old man, indicted for grand larceny, was allowed to withdraw his plea of not guilty and plead guilty to petit larceny. He was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. The trial of criminal cases will begin today.

TWO COURT HOUSE KICKS. —There are two offices at the court house which have come to kick. One is the assessor's office. The assessor threatens to raise the assessment values of property if the holders of lists do not turn them in. Without them the assessor has no means of making estimates on property, except to refer to last year's list. If this is done it might work injustice to many parties. It would be to their interests to turn in the assessment lists as soon as possible. But a peculiar kick comes from the supervisors' office. Holders of county scrip which has been authorized to be paid do not come after their warrants. Clerk Gray has only issued about one-half the warrants on the books. What appears to be negligence on the part of the people may be something else. It may indicate much marked prosperity in the valley that the people are developing an aversion for money; or what the San Francisco examiner said in a recent publication regarding Phoenix, that "the place is rolling in wealth," may be more nearly correct than is imagined. In that event it would be easier for the inhabitants to gather money from the streets than to waste time walking to the supervisors' office for it.

A RESTORED REPUTATION

The Existence of Cat Fish in the Salt River Established.

About a year ago Br'er Roberts, a worthy pillar of the A. M. E. church of this place, passed into a cloud from which he did not emerge until yesterday. He electrified his brethren one day by the announcement that he had encountered a school of catfish in a pool, about four miles below the city, and had brought several of the pupils home with him. The statement was so extraordinary that suspicion at once tarnished Br'er Roberts' hitherto unblemished reputation for veracity. Nobody had ever heard or dreamed of a catfish in the Salt River.

Br'er Shirley and Br'er Stearns were willing to give him a chance to exorcise himself from ignominy and offered to go with him to take a look at the catfish and taste them so that they could testify in his behalf in case charges should be preferred against him. Br'er Roberts said the fish had been eaten, but he would cheerfully exhibit the heads, which he had thrown in the back yard. The witnesses went along and after a long and painful search for the heads Br'er Roberts was forced to the conclusion that the "daws" must have destroyed them as well as his reputation as an honest and reliable citizen.

He invited further investigation and a committee of inquiry was appointed to accompany him to the pool where he said he had caught the catfish. The report of that committee censured Br'er Roberts and he became a "has was" in the church.

Since then he has been fishing up and down the river in and out of season, ever hoping that a fish would come along and restore him to his former ecclesiastical estate. Yesterday morning he was vindicated. The news spread like a prairie fire that Br'er Roberts was in the throes of catfish again. Robert Hudson, a former resident of a catfish country, was delegated to go and see it. He returned and reported that it was a catfish of the variety known as the channel cat, "bout so long, eight inches. He knew it by its familiar whiskers and there could be no reasonable doubt of its identity. Br'er Roberts was at once restored to his position of church pillar without a dissenting vote, though some of his brethren did not vote at all. They intimated by their silence that some one in Missouri in collusion with Br'er Roberts had shipped the fish to him.

This is the first well authenticated incident of the capture of a catfish in Salt River valley waters. A couple of years ago there was the reported catch of one in a ditch near Tempe, and it was believed to be a descendant of a colony which had been planted in the Florence reservoir some years before and had been washed over the watershed in a freshet. Br'er Roberts' fish is no doubt a progeny of that colony, but the passage of the watershed there is exploded. The fish no doubt found their way into the Gila, thence to the junction and then up the Salt. That, however, is not essential. The main fact that there are catfish in the Salt river has been established and Br'er Roberts has been restored to full communion.

It is not apprehended that Br'er Roberts' vindication will seriously alter the piscatorial situation in this valley this season. The Salt river salmon will continue in the ascendancy for at least the rest of this fiscal year. But the future of the Salt river is filled with wonderful catfish possibilities.

THE NEW CITY COUNCIL

The old city council gave place to the new last night. There was not a great deal of attendant ceremony but there were more democrats in the council chamber than had been seen there in recent years. There was a seething mass of democrats; a few of them were there as spectators, did not expect to get anything and had not asked for anything.

When the old council had convened the usual monthly accounts were presented and examined. The last quarterly reports of the retiring officials were read and their bills no other business. Acting Mayor Dyer gave way to Mayor-elect Ganz and took his place as councilman from the First ward. Mr. Brooks of the Third surrendered his seat to Mr. Fickas and the new council was sworn in. There were no felicitous inaugural speeches and the council got down to the business of the meeting, but did not get very far into it. Of all the waiting faithful only one was rewarded and the rest were left suspended on the tenter hooks. Andy Thomas was appointed policeman.

George Purdy Bullard was nominated for city attorney by B. A. Fickas. Councilman Sanders nominated L. H. Chalmers and C. J. Dyer renominated Walter Bennett.

There were two ballots each resulting in two votes for Bullard, one for Chalmers and two for Bennett. An ordinance was introduced and passed, repealing the ordinance giving the mayor control over the police force. A resolution was adopted to expel the books and accounts of the retiring city officials and Neri Osborn was ordered to do so.

The following standing committees were appointed and the council adjourned until next Monday night:

Finance—B. A. Fickas, C. J. Dyer, N. A. Morford.

Streets and Alleys—N. A. Sanders, C. J. Dyer, B. A. Fickas.

Public Buildings and Grounds—N. A. Sanders, C. J. Dyer and N. A. Morford.

Ordinances—N. A. Morford, C. J. Dyer and B. A. Fickas.

Board of Health—E. Ganz, C. J. Dyer and B. A. Fickas.

BEER THAT IS HEALTHFUL.

The main difference between Good Beer and Bad Beer is in the after effects—not the taste. You discover part of that difference. You notice, for one thing, that pure beer—SCHLITZ BEER—doesn't make you bilious.

But the main difference goes unnoticed. Pure beer is good for you; bad beer is unhealthy. But both effects are so gradual that you may not know what has caused them, yet two things are certain:

FIRST—Pure beer is the right beer. Purity is far more important than you think.

SECOND—SCHLITZ BEER is pure beer. Its reputation for purity is of 50 years' standing, and if purity means anything to you, why not send us your next order?

NO MIRACLE

Strange that so many entertain the idea ANYTHING WILL DO in the way of glasses. Using improper or defective lenses, they IMAGINE they SEE WELL, or if aware that their vision is below par, think it impossible for any one to improve their sight. We have many such persons fall into our hands, who almost imagine we have wrought a miracle, by simply placing a piece of glass before their eyes that entirely restores impaired or failing sight. They have failed to get such vision before simply because they have never had their eyes SCIENTIFICALLY examined or PROPERLY FITTED.
